

Prosecution Calls Last Witnesses

By JAMES BONNEY

Associated Press Writer

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) —

The Justice Department is calling up its final witnesses in the prosecution of 18 white men charged with conspiracy in the slaying of three civil rights workers.

U.S. Atty. John Doar said only a few witnesses remained before the prosecution rested. The 18 are charged with conspiracy to violate the state's civil rights under an 1870 statute. No state charge has been filed.

Former Ku Klux Klan members, including one under indictment in the case, highlighted Thursday's testimony in a packed courtroom.

James E. Jordan, 41, who was given money by the FBI to escape Mississippi after he gave information in the 1964 slayings, said he had helped round up the men involved and accompanied them.

Jordan has had his case transferred to another federal court district.

The defendants sat quietly, but stared intently while Jordan told his story of how the three civil rights workers were killed the night of June 21, 1964, in nearby Neshoba County.

The Imperial Wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan complimented those involved "for a job well done," Jordan testified.

The witness—who has been living under FBI protection in Georgia—said the Klan crew was organized in Meridian and drove the 35 miles to Philadelphia, county seat of Neshoba County, to wait for the civil rights workers to be released from the Neshoba County jail.

He testified on details of the killing but said he did not see who actually pulled the triggers.

Jordan testified that defendants Horace Doyle Barnett, Jimmy Snowden, Jerry McGrew Sharpe, Jimmy Arledge, Alton Wayne Roberts, Cecil Price and Billy Wayne Posey were in the party which accompanied the workers to the death spot.

The three men, Jordan said, were delivered to the Klan crew by Deputy Sheriff Price.

Jordan testified a group gathered in Meridian after learning that three civil rights workers had been killed in Philadelphia "and needed their rear ends fore up."

Once in Philadelphia, Jordan said, an eight-man group waited in a warehouse until word was passed that Michael Schwerner, 24, Andrew Goodman, 20, both of New York, and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro, had been released from jail.

Jordan said the Klan group had first been told a state highway patrol cruiser would stop the workers' station wagon on the narrow blacktop road leading to Meridian. The plan changed, Jordan said, and Price stopped the station wagon and put the trio in the deputy sheriff's car.

The caravan retraced its path from Philadelphia about four or five miles and pulled off about 400 yards down a gravel road, he went on.

Jordan said he was posted at the main highway as a lookout and didn't see the actual killings. However, he said he heard shots and ran back to find the three bodies sprawled in the red dust of the roadway.

Three other witnesses testified they received money for information from the FBI. Wallace Miller, a Meridian police sergeant, said he got $2,400 over two years. Rev. Delmar Dennis said he got $15,000 for three years; and Dennis' brother, Willie, said he got $400.

The Rev. Mr. Dennis, who has preached in both Baptist and Methodist churches, testified he had been a province titan in charge of six counties while receiving money from the FBI in exchange for Klan information.

The minister said the Meridian unit of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan had been to do that a top level decision had been made to eliminate "spokes." Schwerner's nickname to the Klan.

Joseph M. Hatcher, a Meridian policeman, who identified himself as a Klan member, testified that Edgar Ray "Preacher" Killen told him that the rights workers "had been taken care of and their bodies were buried south of Philadelphia in an earthen dam."

a company proposal of some sort.

As leaks in the blackout—which a company spokesman described earlier as "1,000 percent effective"—mounted, bargain-hunters were expected to at least part the curtains of secrecy today, if not lift them altogether.

"You will find out today what the situation is," said the union source.

The union is seeking what it calls its broadest list of demands ever, including parity for Canadian workers, a big wage boost with something on top of it for skilled workers, a guaranteed annual income, pension improvements and other contract adjustments.

Cudes Plan to Move to Kansas

MENA, Ark. (AP) — Archie Cude said Thursday that he, his wife and 11 children were moving to Kansas "where they have more liberal laws."

The 48-year-old Polk County farmer, who has been at odds with the state's immunization law since 1959, said "I'm going to put the place up for sale soon."

The self-proclaimed minister of a religious sect said two of his three school-aged children, Linda, 11, and Dolores, 8, already were enrolled in Kansas schools. Della, 12, he said, was going to school at Menard "to help around the house."

Cude said his wife was expecting another child, "which, you might say will be any minute now." He plans on delivering it himself as he has his last four.

Cude refused in 1964 to have his school-aged children vaccinated for smallpox, which is required by state law.

Following court actions, Della, Linda and Wayne, 17, were taken into custody by the state, boarded temporarily at the governor's mansion as the guest of former Gov. and Mrs. Orval Faubus, vaccinated and returned to their parents.

Wayne dropped out of school when he turned 15.

Cude said he hasn't changed his mind about allowing his children to be immunized in compliance with the state law.

Negro Seeks to Overturn Rape Conviction

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals took under study Thursday an appeal by William L. Maxwell, 26, a Negro, who was convicted in Garland County in 1962 of raping a white woman, and was sentenced to death.

Anthony Amsterdam, professor of law at the University of Pennsylvania and counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Legal Defense Fund, asked the court to reverse the conviction on grounds of racial discrimination figured in the trial.

Amsterdam said prospective jurors were chosen from records bearing notations as to race. He also produced a survey purporting to show that Negroes accused of raping white women are sentenced to death far more frequently than white men accused of the same offense.

The survey showed nine of 15 Negroes convicted of raping white women in 15 Arkansas counties received the death penalty, Amsterdam said.

Group Adopts Home Rule Proposals

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Proposals that would provide home rule for counties and municipalities were adopted Thursday by the state Constitutional Revision Study Commission.

Taking up the report of its Local Government Committee, the commission proposed that a municipality may exercise any legislative power or perform any function not denied to cities generally.

For counties, the commission proposed that a small legislative body called the board of supervisors and a county executive be created to replace the cumbersome quorum courts and the county judge.

Offering the cities even more strength, the commission recommended that the legislature set up procedures for the cities to draft home rule charters if they chose.

The legislature would provide counties also with optional forms of self government, which the people of a county could adopt or abandon by a majority vote.

In addition to the county executive, officer and a four to eight man board, the commission recommended that voters elect a treasurer, collector, clerk, county clerk and tax assessor.

After some debate, the commission voted 11 to 7 to recommend abolishment of the municipality counties now have against change.

The commission, hearing the end of its work, was scheduled to meet today and Saturday to wind up the recommendations for constitutional revision it is to make by Jan. 1.

Child Is Named After India

LONDON (AP) — The five-week-old granddaughter of Earl Mountbatten, India's last British viceroy, has been named India.

Lady Pamela Hicks, mountbatten's 10-year-old daughter and wife of interior decorator David Hicks, announced her choice of name Thursday. It is a tribute to the nation her father saw born.

determined to get in as many strikes as possible before the monsoon weather gets really bad later this month.

Ground action reported in South Vietnam was generally light and scattered, but harassing Communist attacks continued.

A civilian bus was blown up by a mine near the old Imperial capital of Hue and nine civilian passengers were wounded. A small spotter plane was shot down by guerrilla riflemen, but the injured pilot was dragged from the wreckage by a helicopter crew which witnessed the crash.

The spotter plane was the 212th U.S. aircraft reported lost in combat in the south.

Heavy B52 attacks once again poured into the shell-scarred battlefields around the Marine outpost of Con Thien just south of the demilitarized zone. One hit the area just north of the DMZ where the enemy is believed trying to install some of the big ground-to-air Sam missiles for defense against the high-altitude bombers.

Con Thien took 30 enemy shells Thursday and reported five Marines wounded, an almost quiet day for the post which withstood barrages of 1,000 rounds some days last month.

With the ground campaign almost stagnant, the focus remained on the northern air war and the steady lifting of Pentagon restrictions on the much-debated target list. But Haiphong's main docks north and northeast of the city's center—the chief gateway for Communist war supplies coming by ship—remain on the restricted list, apparently because of the international repercussions if a Russian ship is hit by U.S. raiders.

pecially in view of the Ford strike, is certain to be cited by the administration in seeking congressional approval of higher taxes.

President Johnson's request for a 15 percent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes is stymied in the House which is demanding spending cuts of $5 billion as the price for passage.

The $15-billion advance exceeded the entire increase of $13 billion during the first six months of this year and was the largest since the $17 billion increase during the first quarter of 1966.

The department said the third-quarter rise featured a halt in the heavy inventory drag that retarded production in the first half of 1967.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the prime purposes of the special, all networks agree, is to get people talking about television again as a personal experience.

It is practically certain that there has been plenty of morning-after talk about Wednesday night's Barbra Streisand hour, "The Belle of 14th Street." They may even have been heated arguments, pro and con.

At any rate, it was a program completely unlike Miss Streisand's previous television vehicles in both form and execution. The same amount of effort and meticulous attention to detail was in evidence, but the comedy was broader and the show busier.

It was built around the well-worn notion of recreating an evening of turn-of-the-century vaudeville played before an audience in the elaborate, colorful costumes of the era. This device gave the hour considerable flexibility. The acts ranged from Jason Robards singing "You're the Apple of My Eye and I Love Apples" surrounded by a bevy of heavyweights chorus girls to a discreet striptease by Miss Streisand while singing "Alice Blue Gown" to a rendition of an old patriotic song done so dead pan that it was a satire on an earlier generation of flag wavers.

There was John Bubbles, looking pretty silly wearing rooster feathers instead of trousers for no discernible reason, singing and dancing.

But despite the help from others, it was Miss Streisand's evening. She came on as a German opera star singing Liebestraum, complete with accent and in the same bit played a little boy soprano and wound up singing a duet with herself.

The low point of the program was a Shakespearean spoof, a very elaborate thing with Robards and Miss Streisand playing the principal roles in "The Tempest." There was much changing of costumes and exaggerated rhetoric, and flying around the tiny stage but it failed to come off amusingly.

The high point arrived with Miss Streisand, in a stunning Mae West costume of black velvet and white ostrich feathers.

Make no mistake, she is an exciting performer with a style that is her very own and a fine true voice with which she can do just about what she wants. In this superlative, costume she alternately camped and sobbed her way through an assortment of familiar old songs that ranged from "Melancholy Baby" to "Some of These Days."

CBS will drop its new western series, "Dundee and the Culhane" in mid-December, replacing it on Dec. 22 with a variety show starring Jonathan Winters. It is the first cancellation of the new season.

"After resting went to see "Stardust", a good show. They had a Mexican piano player, name Esquivel, I'm sure we'll hear more about him. After a sandwich I saw police and employees with about 100 milk buckets. Can you feature it, they took the money out of the slot machines in the buckets.

"Went on tour of city, very beautiful. Went to Continental Theater and saw "That Certain Girl", and dinner, both good. Climate exactly like Hope, cool nights, 85 degrees daytime. Tell Hazel, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Brown are here too. Regards, Mary Whitworth

by Helen Bettel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us! it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper. SHE NEEDS MORE THAN SYMPATHY

Dear Helen: I desperately need a sympathetic ear and I prefer one across the miles, so I chose you, dear Helen.

I'm tired — wore out and give out! But still I must go on. Our home is a mess, I don't have the strength to clean it up.

We have seven children. The oldest one will be 10 years old next month. The youngest is six weeks old today.

I went to the doctor this afternoon for the six-weeks check-up. The doctor found our baby healthy. But me? He found I was pregnant again! He thinks, and I guess he's right.

When I came home crying to tell my husband, he just said, "Well — I — I —"

Don't tell me to take the pill or use the rhythm method, or any other preventative. My husband thinks that is wrong. He also thinks that marriage entitles a man — constantly.

I love my children. I worry about them because I can't take care of them. I worry about dishes piled in the sink and washing never quite caught up and mountains of ironing, and bottles and diapers and dirty heads to wash and little noses to clean — and a man who can't understand why I'm too tired.

There isn't much you can do, Helen. If I am, I am. But I need a long-distance shoulder to cry on. — FOREVER PREGNANT

Dear F. P.: You have all my sympathy, dear, but you need much more than that!

Your husband needs a close-in lecture on the care and preservation of wives, and your doctor is the one to deliver it — in spades! You also need a part-time household helper, and if you can't afford an outsider, give the job to you-know-who!

Possibly your religion forbids contraceptives but it is also against forcing a woman into pregnancies that will ruin her health and endanger her children. If the doctor can't talk sense into your husband, maybe your priest might — H

Dear Helen: I must warn you my husband is going to write a blast about your answer to the wife of the bare chested "bucket of blubber." ... the one who eats constantly and wears nothing but pajama bottoms around the house.

My husband has worn the refrigerator door handle thin. He was a big, beautiful hunk of sex appeal ten years ago. Now he's merely big, and he has a constant hangover — his stomach. He wears nothing but shorts and a ragged bathrobe around the house. He says it's glandular. The doctor says it's calories. I say it's self-indulgence.

Well, I'm thankful for the good years and resigned to his "going to pot," but I couldn't help showing him your "get tough" answer. So brace yourself for his wrath. — FAT MAN'S WIFE

Dear F.M.W.: Thanks for your alert. Does this sound familiar?

Dear Helen Bettel: I read where you said, "Stop making it easy for the unmannered slob!" You are big-mouthed and narrow-minded. I know from your remarks you must think you're ten feet tall, with a remarkable figure and kisser, but you have the mind of an ant.

Don't you know you may be talking about some poor fellow that has a glandular problem — and also a wife who nags as much as you do?

Why don't you put your picture in our paper so your readers will know how "beautiful" a dull minded writer like you must be? — HUSBAND ... Methinks he protests too much.

... And my advice still stands. Sloppy — fat husbands, whether "glandular" or gluttonous, need doctor's care, and a wife who doesn't insist on it is aiming for early widowhood. — H

Dear Helen: Please say something about young people who go home to visit parents. With the holidays coming up, it may help a lot of us. My husband and I love our children and grandchildren, but it grieves us to see them push all the work on us while they blithely enjoy total vacations.

It seems that any item — books, furniture, records, gardens — is an open target for misuse. Best towels go to the beach; best dishes are left outside even though paper ones are available. They forget that with five or six extras, housecleaning increases in proportion. Moreover, our children are out most of the time with friends their own ages — and they leave us to baby-sit.

Please tell the younger generation, Helen, that the old folks do not like to be treated as conveniences. We love their company, but we wish they'd pitch in — GRANDPARENTS Consider them told. And why don't YOU two visit the kids this year? — H

Body in Pond Not Identified

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — North Little Rock Police still haven't determined the identity of a Negro youth found dead in a pond near the Missouri Pacific Lines freight yard 10 days ago.

Declive Lt. John Gilbert said he checked missing persons reports and the escape records of Juvenile Hall and the state Boys' Training School without finding anyone who would fit the dead youth's description. He said he had no other leads.

The boy, said a physician to be between the ages of 10 and 13, was found floating naked in the pond, which had been used for several years as a swimming hole by Negro youngsters.

The body was buried the day after it was discovered by an employee of a nearby ready-mix concrete firm.

Made Ride for Love, Money

SCITUATE, Mass. (AP) — It seems that Paul Revere may have made his famous midnight ride for love and for money.

Thomas Stoller, 46, an historian, says he has a document in which Revere lists an expense of 15 pounds, 6 shillings for his duties "riding for the Committee of Safety" in April and May, 1775.

"This certainly doesn't mean Revere wasn't a patriot," Stoller says.

"It just puts him in perspective. Paul Revere didn't live on his horse, wide-eyed, waiting to race about the countryside. He had to work, like the rest of us to feed his family."

The American flag has been changed four times since 1900 — in 1907, 1912, 1959 and 1960.

Professional Basketball Season Opens

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The professional basketball season opens tonight. Right off the bat there is a confrontation in the San Francisco area between the established National Basketball Association and its new rival, the American Basketball Association.
The opening games are Seattle at San Francisco in the NBA and Anaheim at Oakland, just across the bay.
George Mikan, the commissioner of the 11-team ABA, is expected to participate in opening ceremonies at the Oakland Arena along with Rick Barry, who last year helped San Francisco gain the NBA championship playoff final against Philadelphia.
"Each time you do something like this," Gibson said, "it seems bigger than the last, though Norm Sneed is now the top passer in the NFL."

Figures the Winners in Pro Grid Play

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) - If Jim Lomborg winds up playing with the Boston Patriots and Bob Gibson starts throwing passes for the St. Louis Cardinals, charge it off to this crazy mixed-up time of the year.
With baseball finally out of the way, the football people can start paying attention to a race that already is in the fifth week of the season.
Maybe watching baseball helps a Hand picker. Last week's score was 10-1 with a season total of 35-10-2 (24-7-1 in the NFL and 11-3-1 in the AFL). Let's try again. All games are Sunday.

NFL
Baltimore 24, Los Angeles 21 - The big battle in the Coastal Division although it lost a little of the edge when the Rams lost to the 49ers. John Unitas hasn't been stopped yet and the Colts have the blocking to match the Rams' front four. A real bruiser.
Detroit 24, Chicago 14 - Lions' attack strongest on ground where Bears are most vulnerable. Mel Farr should be too much for Bears who still are looking for a passing game. Give Gale Sayers a couple and that's it.

He Simply Wouldn't Lose Game

By BEN BROWN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) - "That Gibson, he just wouldn't lose today."
Dal Maxvill, the St. Louis shortstop whose triple started the Cardinals to victory in Thursday's seventh game of the World Series, was talking about Bob Gibson, the hard-throwing right-hander who won three games from Boston.
"That Gibson," Maxvill continued, "he'll challenge them. He's tops for intestinal fortitude and ability. And he has great aggressiveness. He just won't admit defeat."
Maxvill said Gibson was mad when he came to Fenway Park for Thursday's game. "There was a mixup at breakfast and he didn't get his food when we did," Maxvill explained. "He was so mad he could throw BBs."
Gibson was throwing, there was no doubt about that. He pitched a three-hit, 7-2 victory to give the Cardinals their second world championship in four years. He has won five straight games in Series competition.
In three games in the 1967 classic, Gibson allowed the American League champion Red Sox just three runs, 14 hits and struck out 26 - five short of the Series record of 31. Gibson set the mark in 1964.
Gibson, who rebounded from a broken leg suffered last July, returned to the mound Sept. 6. He had a 3-1 record in five starts after returning to action and ended the season with a 13-7 record - the first time since 1964 that he has failed to win 20 games.
The 31-year-old pitcher's performance earned for him the award of the Most Valuable Player in the Series and a new car from a national magazine. He won the same award in 1964. Besides holding Boston to two runs, Gibson blasted a 380-foot homer that proved to be the deciding run in the game. At one time Gibson was known as a hitting pitcher.
"But I don't hit much any more," he said, "I have to concentrate on my pitching. Any way, I'm getting old. My reflexes are slower and my eyes aren't as good."
"Each time you do something like this," Gibson said, "it seems bigger than the last, though Norm Sneed is now the top passer in the NFL."

New Methods Reduce Risk In Prostate Operation

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is there any way a 70-year-old man with prostate trouble can get permanent relief except by an operation? Would an operation be dangerous at that age?

A—If by prostate trouble you mean an enlarged gland, a common accompaniment of advanced age, some form of operation is the only cure. Modern methods of operating on the prostate have reduced the risk almost to the vanishing point.

Q—I am 58 and have an enlarged prostate. Is there any medication for this condition? How successful is prostatic massage? Does enlargement always lead to cancer?

A—There is no drug that will shrink your prostate. Massage is of some value in treating a chronically infected prostate but will not shrink an enlarged gland. Benign prostatic enlargement is not related to cancer of the prostate.

Q—My husband had a prostate operation in 1966 but he still has to get up several times a night to urinate. Could this be cancer? What treatment would you suggest?

A—There are many causes of frequent urination at night. Cancer of the prostate is only one and can easily be confirmed or ruled out by your husband's doctor. The commonest cause is hardening of the arteries, and for that there is no remedy.

Q—If a man has a prostatic enlargement that doesn't cause any symptoms is an operation necessary?

A—A benign enlargement that causes no symptoms needs no treatment but, since the condition is slowly progressive, an operation may become necessary later.

Q—What medicine would you recommend for an infected prostate?

A—If the infection is chronic, oxyphenbutazone, obtainable only on a doctor's prescription, combined with prostatic massage should clear up the infection.

House Probe of Prices in Supermarkets

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee indicates it may extend to other cities its investigation of whether Safeway Stores raised prices in poverty areas on days welfare checks and food stamps are given out.

The panel currently is probing the chain's pricing policies in the Washington area.

A House Government Operations subcommittee received conflicting testimony Thursday from three Washington women, who charged their survey proved Safeway engaged in such practices, and from Safeway officials who denied it.

"I tend to think that the ladies made a very persuasive case," said Chairman Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y.

Rosenthal and Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., told newsmen they thought the probe should be widened to include slum areas in such cities as Los Angeles, Cleveland and New York.

Rep. William L. Dawson, D-Ill., chairman of the full Government Operations Committee, commended Rosenthal and pledged to the three women, "We'll try to do something about it."

The three, Marguerite Kelly, Janie Boyd and Lisa Schlossberg, made the survey for the D. C. Democratic Central Committee. They said prices in three poverty-area Safeway Stores averaged 9.1 per cent higher on Sept. 1 than at six other Safeway Stores for 10 selected items sold in all stores.

The Federal Trade Commission is also looking into the charges but suspended its hearings Thursday so Safeway officials could appear before Rosenthal's panel.

The women presented to the subcommittee charts purporting to show that prices on 10 items tended to rise to a peak at the first of the month—when welfare checks and food stamps are distributed. Prices then would drop a few days later to await the next month's distributions, they contended.

Basil Winstead, Safeway's Washington area manager, and five local store managers defended any deviations from Safeway's standard price could have occurred and said their records proved this.

"Practices of this kind would be a deterrent to sales," Winstead said, adding that any manager who jacked up prices on his own would be quickly found out and dismissed.

Reuss then disclosed he had done some noontime comparison shopping at nearby Safeway Stores and emptied his produce onto a table.

He showed a green pelt dome lettuce and chicory bought at three different stores, two in poverty areas and the third at Safeway's showpiece downtown international store. He said he paid 48 cents in each case for the three items.

But he noted the poverty-area peppers had holes in them and the lettuce looked wilted. "It seems to me the person who shops at the international store gets a lot more for his 48 cents," said Reuss.

But Reuss added: "I applaud Safeway for operating food stores in poor areas." He said all stores were "clean, decent and I was served by obliging sales personnel."

Suggests Drinking in Family Setting to Prevent Alcoholism

Rules Paper Must Dispose of 2 Others

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Times Mirror Co. has two months to appeal a federal court ruling that it divest itself of the San Bernardino Morning Sun and Evening Telegram, purchased in June 1964.

U.S. Dist. Judge Warren J. Ferguson, in a 36-page opinion, said Wednesday the Times Mirror acquisition violated the Clayton Antitrust Act.

"Evidence discloses the market has now been closed tight and no publisher will risk the expense of unilaterally starting a new daily newspaper" in San Bernardino, Ferguson said.

The government also sought to bar Times Mirror, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, from buying any other newspaper in California, but Ferguson declined to issue an injunction.

The Times Mirror Co. earlier said it would appeal an adverse decision to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

The Los Angeles Times has five suburban sections distributed with its regular editions. These suburban sections carry local news of the area in which they are distributed and carry advertising at lower rates than are charged for the full run of the paper.

Ferguson said the acquisition "raised a barrier to entry of newspapers in the San Bernardino County market that is almost impossible to overcome."

San Bernardino is about 65 miles from Los Angeles. The defense contended there was no appropriate market which includes both the Times and the Sun papers because there is no "cross-elasticity of demand" between the papers and because they cannot be substitutes for one another.

Norman Chandler, chairman and chief executive officer of the Times Mirror, said in a statement after the decision that his firm believes acquisition of the Sun papers did not violate antitrust laws. He said the papers do not now or would they in the future compete.

During the trial it was brought out that the Pulitzer

NEW YORK (AP) — A federally financed study on alcoholism and other alcoholism problems says it should be national policy to promote drinking in a family setting to help prevent the development of problem drinkers.

The report, titled "Alcohol Problems—A Report to the Nation," also recommends that the legal age for buying and drinking alcoholic beverages be lowered to 18 throughout the country.

The National Council of Churches has strongly endorsed the proposals which are part of a "total alcohol program" aimed at inducing deliberate "changes in American drinking patterns."

Financed by a $1 million grant from the National Institute of Mental Health, the study was made by a 21-member Cooperative Commission on the Study of Alcoholism over the last five years.

Their findings are contained in the 224-page report published today. The commission urged a reduction in "the social pressure to drink."

In this regard the report suggested that liquor advertisers could include in their ads references to a host's responsibility to refrain from keeping the glass full for a guest who has to drive home.

The commission found "a pattern of gregarious social drinking is likely to be more restrained than drinking in exclusively male settings." It also said drinking in a family setting is "likely to be restrained."

It noted the relatively low rate of problem drinking in Italian, Chinese and Jewish families where youngsters generally get their introduction to alcoholic beverages "in the home in a relatively routine and unemotional manner."

"People brought up in totally abstinent traditions who later take up drinking apparently are more likely to become problem drinkers," the commission commented.

Publishing Co., of St. Louis, made an offer of about $15 million for the Sun papers.

James A. Guthrie, head of the Sun Co., said he chose to sell to Times Mirror because Chandler was director of three large corporations in San Bernardino County.

Controversy Over U.S. Bomb Policy

By DEREK SCHOEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — For weeks a controversy has flared over whether President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara are sharply at odds with U.S. military leaders over the extent of bombing of North Vietnam. Here are statements made by some of the principals involved.

McNamara, in Aug. 25 testimony made public Tuesday in censored form, told the Senate preparedness subcommittee:

"The area of controversy that we have been dealing with deals with a very, very tiny part of the total air war in the North, and this is why the chiefs (Joints Chiefs of Staff) and I feel there is no great gap between the military leaders and the civilian leaders."

The same subcommittee helped generate the controversy when it said in a 20-page report issued Aug. 31:

"Civilian authority consistently overruled the unanimous recommendations of military commanders and the Joint Chiefs of Staff for a systematic, hard-hitting integrated air campaign against the vital North Vietnamese targets."

The Senate panel blamed U.S. plane and pilot losses in North Vietnam in part on "a long delay in approving targets, and added: 'All the military witnesses stated that the closure of neutralization or isolation of the Port of Haiphong was the single most important thing which could be done in North Vietnam from a military viewpoint.'"

President Johnson stepped into the budding dispute the day after the subcommittee's report was published in telling a Sept. 1 news conference:

"Roughly speaking—and this is subject to some adjustment—there are in the neighborhood of some 350 principal, significant targets that the President has seriously considered from the JCS Joint Chiefs list. Approximately 300 of those have been authorized."

And Johnson later added: "The 50 left are in very strategic areas, primarily the Port of Haiphong, Hanoi and the buffer zone between Red China and North Vietnam. The decisions to bomb those other 50 targets have not been made."

Asked further about the reports of friction between the military and civilian leadership, the President said:

"I think you would be doing the country a disservice if you felt for a moment that there were any deep divisions between us. I think it is a pretty good team, I think it is working very effectively."

Subcommittee member Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said Sept. 1 of Johnson's statement: "Other crucial targets remain sanctuaries, and until they are listed as authorized targets, discord will continue within the administration."

Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, Pacific commander in chief, testified before the subcommittee Aug. 9-10. In a statement made public then, he said, "During the last three months, with an expanded target list but no significant departure from the broad restraints under which we have long operated, we have begun to hurt the enemy in his home territory."

Subcommittee Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., later quoted Sharp as saying in closed session: "No war has ever been brought to successful conclusion by defensive action alone."

Stennis also said of Sharp's testimony: "Adm. Sharp candidly stated that 'now, when the enemy is hurting, we should increase our pressures.'"

Says Negroes Not Leaving State Now

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Negroes between the ages of 29 and 40 are going to stop leaving the state because "in Arkansas, there will be labor for men in surroundings more peaceful than the ghetto," Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Wednesday.

The nation is so wealthy in human resources that it "may waste more... In the next decade than most nations can accumulate in the next century," the governor said in the text of a speech prepared for delivery at the annual fall convocation of Philander Smith College here.

Rockefeller told those attending the ceremonies at the predominantly Negro college that he saw "disquieting truths" in statistics showing that 7.5 per cent of the Negroes in Arkansas who are 25 or older have no schooling at all; that the median education level for Negroes in that age group is between the sixth and seventh grades; and that only two per cent of the Negroes in the state have four or more years of college.

UN in Final Day of Debate on Policy

Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly went into the final day of its policy debate today with more than a third of its members demanding a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Although not on the agenda of the 122-nation assembly, Vietnam has dominated the debate. Prior to the closing speeches today, calls for a bombing halt came from 43 nations, most of them in Communist East Europe, Scandinavia, Asia or Africa.

Most of the behind-scenes maneuvering so far has centered on the Arab-Israeli deadlock, scheduled to come before the Assembly first after the policy speeches.

The Asian member held a closed-door meeting late Thursday on the Middle East issue. Informed sources said most of them want to delay debate on the question until they see what comes of U.S.-Soviet negotiations to put it before the Security Council.

A number of Arab states are reported to prefer council action. They are not represented

Pacific Cold Moving Into Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Pacific cold front picked up steam Thursday and is expected to move into Northwest Arkansas this evening and move southward across the state tonight.

Winds are expected to shift to a northerly course tonight and Saturday as the front moves through the state, accompanied by a few showers.

However, rainfall is expected to be less than one-fourth inch. Temperatures will be four to eight degrees below normal over the weekend.

Arkansas warmed up Thursday under a bright sun and warm southerly winds. High temperatures over the state ranged from 70 at Walnut Ridge and Blytheville to 83 in Texarkana. Overnight lows were in the upper 40s to low 60s.

There was no rainfall reported for the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today.

Reader Railroad - Local Asset Turned to Good Account

A bulletin from the Reader Railroad - Arkansas' famous Possum Trot Line - advises that on Tuesday and Thursday of this week the railroad did something not seen anywhere in the United States in many years: It rambled over its Nevada county tracks.

The steam locomotive has vanished, of course, Reader advertising that it is "The only remaining, regularly scheduled mixed train powered exclusively by steam." The line runs from its junction with Missouri Pacific at Reader down to the asphalt oil field at Waterloo, hauling freight and a goodly number of passengers curious about the vanished era of steam-power.

Trains leave the Reader depot on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, completing the 23-mile trip to Waterloo and return by 4:30. A leisurely pace, you remark - but appropriately so, for you're on the lookout for deer as you journey through the woods, and there's time out at Waterloo for luncheon - plus photographic stops along the way, since practically every Reader steam passenger takes a camera along.

The Possum Trot Line has made our section of Arkansas famous all over America. It is a prime example of how local people - Camden, Prescott, and Shreveport - recognized a local asset and promoted it into something to attract tourists from coast to coast.

The roundtrip fare on the Possum Trot Line? For adults $4.50, children 5 to 12 - $2.25, under 5, free.

Charles Meyer Elected by Bakers

Charles T. Meyer Jr. of Little Rock, president of Meyer's Bakeries, has been elected to the Executive Committee of the American Bakers Association at the group's Annual Convention and Exposition at Atlantic City, N.J., it was announced today.

Meyer also was re-elected to the Board of Governors by the more than 18,000 A.B.A. delegates attending, a post which he has held for a year. The annual meeting will conclude Thursday.

Meyer's Bakeries, with general offices in Little Rock, has baking plants at Hope, Blytheville and Little Rock. The company was founded in 1911 by Charles T. Meyer Sr. Today Meyer's markets its more than two dozen products nationwide.

No Evidence for Remarks, Says Adkisson

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Prosecutor Richard Adkisson said Thursday that Sen. Oscar Alagood of Little Rock had no evidence to support his remarks on liquor violations and the Hot Springs gambling bill.

Adkisson, who had invited Alagood to come by his office Thursday, said the senator explained that he made the comments in a "light, humorous" vein. Alagood said this vein typified talks he made to civic groups.

Alagood had said in a speech that he had "heard" that "Las Vegas money was available" for legislators who would vote against the Hot Springs gambling bill in the 1967 General Assembly. Alagood also said he knew about violations of liquor and gambling laws in private clubs.

Adkisson said Alagood told him he "thought" he could show the prosecutor clubs where persons who were nonmembers were sold mixed drinks illegally. The prosecutor also said he asked Alagood about his remark that up to two weeks ago he knew of 15 clubs where slot machines could be found, but Alagood said none was in Pulaski County. Adkisson said the senator did not identify clubs where they could be found.

Adkisson said he saw no need to call for the Grand Jury to question Alagood.

Union Has Rejected Ford Offer

By H.L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) - The United Auto Workers union has rejected a new proposal in contract bargaining with the strikebound Ford Motor Co., but a high union source said today "progress is being made that could lead to impending action."

Rejection of the proposal was reported by a well-placed company source, who said "It was a generous offer. They—the talks—aren't going anywhere right now."

While a union source said there had been progress toward ending a 37-day strike, he added that there have been no face-to-face meetings of the top bargaining teams since a news blackout was clamped on talks Tuesday night.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther heads the union team while Vice President Malcolm I. Denise bargains for Ford.

Mindful of the blackout, which sometimes in past contract years has meant settlement is near, both sources were reluctant to elaborate on the separate positions of the two sides.

The union objected to the term "offer." A union spokesman said an offer in national bargaining can only be made to the national bargaining committee, and the opportunity for this has not existed this week, but the union did not deny rejecting

Triskaidekaphobia-Is Fear of 13-and This Is Friday the 13th

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
"Avoid walking under cats" is the tongue-in-cheek advice of one man but triskaidekaphobia is sometimes reduced to shy stay-at-homes on Friday the 13th.

Today is the 13th and triskaidekaphobia—fear of the number 13—combines with other traditional bad luck signs to make life truly miserable for the superstitious.

"I always stay home," says Phil Edwards, a newsman for radio station KTYM in Inglewood, Calif. "I'd stay in bed but there's always the chance that I'll fall out so I usually go to sleep on the floor."

Helen Matustak, a Chicago cleaning woman, says she was once told that if the first person you see on opening your window drapes in the morning on the 13th is a woman you'll have bad luck all day.

It happened to her once and she went to the store and lost $10, she said. Today, she added, "I'm not going to open the curtains all day."

Mrs. LeVeta Mouser, left, and Margie Vickers, watch as Mayor John B. Gardner signs B&PW Week proclamation.

WHEREAS, Working women constitute 26 million of the Nation's working force and are constantly striving to serve their communities, their states and their nation in civic and cultural programs, and

WHEREAS, Major goals of business and professional women are to help create better conditions for business women through the study of social, educational, economic and political problems; to help them be of greater service to their community; to further friendship with women throughout the world, and

WHEREAS, All of us are proud of their leadership in these many fields of endeavor:

NOW THEREFORE, I, John B. Gardner, Jr., Mayor of the City of Hope, by the authority vested in me, do hereby proclaim Oct. 15 to 21st as NATIONAL BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK. Sponsored by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., and urge all citizens in Hope, all civic and fraternal groups, all educational associations, all news media and other community organizations to join in this salute to working women by encouraging and promoting the celebration of the achievements of all business and professional women as they contribute daily to our economic, civic and cultural purposes.

U.S. Crackdown on Foundations Using Tax-dodging Schemes

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal crackdown is taking shape against private foundations set up as tax-dodging schemes.

The Internal Revenue Service revealed Thursday it began eight months ago an investigation into what it termed widely promoted plans to avoid taxes through private foundations or family trusts. A congressional inquiry into what Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., has called the mass production of tax-dodging foundations is scheduled to begin Oct. 30.

The Johnson administration's tax revision package scheduled to be sent to Congress later this year is also expected to call for a ban on the diversion of foundation assets to private advantage.

The first witnesses in the congressional inquiry by Patman's House small business subcommittee are expected to be trustees and members of a group called "Americans Building Constitutionally," headquartered in Barrington, Ill.

Patman said the group allegedly instructs its members on how to avoid taxes by setting up personal tax-exempt foundations.

IRS, in disclosing its inquiry, said it can't name names now. But it said the schemes for escaping taxes follow a general pattern and usually involve setting up one or more private foundations. IRS said it doubts the legality of such operations.

The Treasury Department in 1965 recommended to Congress a general ban on financial transactions between a foundation and its contributors, officers, directors or trustees to prevent diversion of assets to private use.

This is still a basic Treasury objective and is expected to be included either in its original or modified form in a tax revision package Johnson has promised to send to Congress this year.

In his economic message to Congress last January, Johnson said without spelling out details: "As one specific reform, I will urge changes to deal with abuses by tax-exempt private foundations."

Panty Raid at State College

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) - A "disorganized panty raid" resulted Thursday night from a Tech Week pep rally at State College of Arkansas here, according to the Conway Police Department.

Police said security officers at SCA called them to the scene and the situation, which erupted about 10:30 p.m., was nearly under control by midnight.

No arrests had been made as of midnight, officers said.

Teachers to Boycott PTA

BURLINGTON, N.C. (AP) - City school teachers, upset by the refusal of Burlington voters to approve an additional tax to raise teacher salaries, voted Wednesday night to boycott all Parent Teacher Association meetings for an indefinite period.

Compromise Offered in Truck Strike

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) - An explosion and fire destroyed a terminal owned by the head of the National Steel Carriers Association today, and rocks, bullets and firebombs showered trucks in three states.

The renewed violence reinforced a view that hopes for a quick settlement of the two-month-old strike by thousands of steel haulers were sputtering out.

The trucking company executives have split into two groups. A spokesman for one said it was opposed to a peace plan drawn in Pittsburgh. The strikers are voting on it anyway.

Spokesmen for the second group of companies said they also are opposed to the original recommendations and have offered a compromise. The strikers said they wouldn't even vote on the substitute.

The explosion rocked a small terminal of B&P Motor Express Inc., at Fallston north of Pittsburgh just before dawn. Firemen said the build was a total loss. B&P is headed by Howard Miller, chief of the National Steel Carriers Association.

At Greensburg, east of Pittsburgh, state police reported that windshields on 10 trucks were smashed by rocks, no one was hurt.

Snipers fired on two strike-breaking trucks and a car near Middletown, Ohio. Three firebombs were chucked at a parked truck near Youngstown.

No one was hurt.

William Kusley of Gary, Ind., the man who organized the strike, said no one is going back to work without a settlement.

Kusley ordered his men to begin voting in the eight affected states. Results of the balloting aren't expected until the weekend, but a source in Pittsburgh said early returns indicate "a favorable response."

Kusley said, however, the proposal must be accepted by all parties.

New outbreaks of violence flared in two states as officials of the 68-member national Steel Carriers Association gathered in Cleveland to act on the plan drafted Tuesday by a seven-state mediation team.

George Gregory Mantho, the association's managing director and labor counsel, said he didn't know what action, if any, will be taken. He was quoted earlier as saying the proposed settlement "is not worth the paper it's written on."

"Our association was committed to a collective bargaining agreement which we refuse to open," Mantho said in referring to a national contract signed last spring with the Teamsters Union.

About 60 per cent of the 10,000 to 20,000 striking independent steel haulers, who lease their own rigs to trucking firms and work on a percentage basis, are covered under a supplement to that contract.

A second group of carriers, representing 80 firms in the Pittsburgh area, has already said no to the settlement plan.

Judgment for $18,000 in Land Case

In Hempstead Circuit Court yesterday in the case of Arkansas State Highway vs. W.D. Vera Davis, a jury awarded judgment to the Davis' for $18,000 for four acres in a land condemnation case involving Interstate 30.

The Court will hear the case of Larry Toner by his mother, Mrs. Edward Toner, vs. Julia Dixon, asking judgment of $9,500. The case resulted from a auto-scooter wreck in 1964.

Economy Has Surged in 3rd Quarter

WASHINGTON (AP) - The economy surged ahead during the third quarter of this year, the Commerce Department reported today, adding strength to the Johnson Administration's argument for higher taxes.

In a quarterly report, the department said the gross national product—the value of all goods and services produced in the economy—jumped $15 billion at an annual rate during the third quarter, the biggest advance in six quarters.

The increase ended the pause in economic growth recorded during the first half of 1967.

The $15-billion jump raised the annual rate to $790.1 billion during the quarter despite the effects of the Ford Motor Co. strike and a major strike in the copper industry.

Officials said earlier the Ford strike meant a $2-billion trimming of the GNP rate during the third quarter.

The advance, even more bullish than government economists anticipated two months ago, ex-

Fulbright, Rusk Conflict Sharpening

By ROBERT GRAY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - The conflict between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Sen. J.W. Fulbright is sharpening as Senate criticism of the administration's Vietnam policies grows.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has spearheaded that criticism for months.

While Rusk has been his urbane and unruffled self throughout most of the debate, there was a new edge to his voice and a new bite to his statements Thursday as he hit back at Senate critics—particularly Fulbright.

"That is not true," he replied when asked at a news conference about Fulbright's remark that the United States was at fault in the United Nations' inaction on Vietnam.

And, noting Fulbright's earlier support of the administration on Vietnam policy, Rusk said: "If people change their minds, it's fair to ask on which occasion they were right."

Fulbright, asserting "I believe I am right now," later resumed on the Senate floor his objections to the administration's war policies.

Haiphong Target of Navy Jets

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) - Waves of U.S. Navy jets placed a ring of attacks tightly around the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong Thursday.

The targets—which U.S. spokesmen said were heavily damaged—included two shipyards previously on the Pentagon's restricted list, the assembly plant where Russian missiles and helicopters are uncrated, a power plant outside the city, and the MIG airfield at Cat Bi just to the southeast.

The two shipyards, both less than two miles from Haiphong's geographic center, make and repair river craft and supply barges up to 150 feet long. U.S. headquarters estimated that together they amounted to 8 per cent of North Vietnam's boatyard and small ship repair facilities.

Although bad weather covered much of North Vietnam, there were frequent breaks in the cloud cover, and American pilots got in 143 missions, about one third more than they have been flying in the past few days.

Although the vital rail lines north of Hanoi were covered by clouds, supply lines to the south were exposed and took a heavy pounding. U.S. Headquarters is

Injunction Bars G&F Hearing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - A special chancery judge issued a temporary injunction today prohibiting Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller from proceeding with his ouster hearings for some members of the state Game and Fish Commission.

Acting Chancellor Eugene R. Bailey ordered the governor's attorney to appear at 10 a.m. Oct. 27 to show cause why the order shouldn't be made permanent.

The injunction was sought by the members of the commission through an impressive of attorneys.

The request for the order contended that Rockefeller did not have the power to issue an executive order calling for the ouster hearings since a section of Amendment 35, the Game and Fish Commission amendment, is not self-executing and that no enabling legislation has been passed.

The commissioners also contend that such a hearing must be held before the state Senate and ask that Rockefeller's order be declared null and void.

The attorneys for the commissioners are Ben C. Henley of Harrison, a former chairman of the state Republican party, for commissioner Verlie Hudson; former Associate Supreme Court Justice Sam Robinson for Ernest Hogue and Raymond Farris; Gene Worsham of Little Rock for Newt L. Halley; former Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon for his brother, Ed Gordon and William Arnold, president of the Arkansas Bar Association, and William J. Smith, former legal aide to former Gov. Orval Faubus, for Tom Pugh.

The complaint also charged that members of the commission would be rendered "great and irreparable injury, before the matter could be formally heard."

Rockefeller's hearing for the commissioners has tentatively been scheduled for Dec. 5. A panel of three lawyers will hear the evidence for the governor. The evidence will be presented by H. W. McMillan, an Arkadelphia lawyer.

Rockefeller has charged that he has evidence of misconduct in office by some commissioners, but has never said what the evidence is or identified the commissioners.

The commissioner came under repeated attacks from Rockefeller when he was campaigning last year.
